Attributed to William T. Franklin (who was born about 1760!) in the catalogue of the Library of the American Philosophical Society, and elsewhere, when the absurdity of the statement had been noticed, to Governor William Franklin. It was, however, one of the several scurrilous productions of the pen of Leigh Hunt's father. Hunt was graduated at the College and Academy of Philadelphia in 1763, and in 1765 applied to the Trustees to be admitted to the degree of Master of Arts, but was refused on technical grounds. In 1766 he renewed his request, which was refused on the grounds of his being the "author and publisher of several scurrilous and scandalous pieces," among which were "A Letter from a Gentleman in Transylvania" (see No. 2002, supra) and the "Exercises for Scurrility Hall," &c.

An anti-Franklin election address. "You have seen how the same faction have gratified an ambitious man in frequent embassies to England, under pretence of extinguishing a flame designedly kindled by himself! And . . . how this man, altho' he originally crept into confidence under the character of a commonwealth's man 'with the cry of our constitution and charter rights in his mouth' returned from England an arrant courtier and state tool; . . . determined to maintain himself and his associates here in power by a total change of our government and surrender of our charter." It is signed "James Biddle," and was perhaps written by him.

William Franklin, in his reply, says the principal Officers of the Government employed "the Clerk of the Court [James Biddle] to read it aloud to the Public."

An Anti-Non-Importation address, signed "An Englishman," who says, "The establishment of a Bishop or Bishops, would, amongst other things, have this very excellent effect, that it would draw the attention, and awaken the jealousy of the [New England] Puritans, who would give their spleen some vent, in discharging it upon the ceremonies, forms, &c., of the church, . . . and this will answer as good an end as stuffing a skin to amuse a puppy, to prevent his worrying the sheep."

[DICKINSON. (John)] Letters | from a | Farmer | in | Pennsylvania, | to the | Inhabitants | of the | British Colonies. | Philadelphia: | Printed by David Hall, and William Sellers. | MDCCLXVIII. | 8vo. pp. 71. + The Second Edition. | [Ibid.] 8vo. pp. 71. 2354

The first edition was published in March and the second in June following. The publication of these letters produced a greater sensation throughout the colonies than anything ever before printed. They appeared simultaneously in the Pennsylvania Chronicle and Gazette, in twelve issues, beginning on Dec. 3, 1767; towards the close of the series the Chronicle was a few days ahead of the Gazette and Journal, which joined the others with numbers one and two, on the 10th of Dec. They were promptly reprinted in nearly all the twenty-five papers then published on the continent, Miller's and Sower's German papers and the Boston Evening Post being among the exceptions. The latter paper published a series of letters in reply, and Goddard (Partnership, p. 16) hints that Galloway also wrote a series of letters in answer to the Farmer, which were not, however, published. The publication of the letters in the Chronicle led to a breach between the partners,—Galloway, Wharton, and Goddard, which resulted finally in the latter's overthrow.

The Town Meeting held in Boston, March 17, 1768, voted that "The Thanks of the Town be given to the Author." "This," says the Pa. Gazette, "is the first Honour of the kind ever given by a City to any person in America." Other towns in New England followed the example of Boston; in New York, the "Author of the Farmer's Letters" was a toast at public dinners; in Pennsylvania, when Dickinson appeared in Court, proceedings were delayed by the presentation of complimentary addresses from the Grand Juries. From Maryland and the southern colonies came addresses from Grand Juries and other public bodies. The French edition says thirty editions were printed in America within six months. This statement may have included the newspaper reprints, as only eight in pamphlet form are now known to have been printed in America. Two editions were also published in London and one in Dublin. A long notice in the Monthly Review, vol. xxxix., concludes, "If reason is to decide between us and our colonies, in the affairs here controverted, our Author, whose name the advertisements inform us is Dickinson, will not perhaps easily meet with a satisfactory refutation."

[EDWARDS. (Morgan)] The | Customs of primitive churches ;

 tion, power, | officers, ordinances, rites, business, worship, discipline, government, &c. | of a church ; to which are added their

 . . . | . . . | . . . | . . . | [Philadelphia : Andrew Steuart. 1768.]
 4to. pp. 110. 2355

The reverse of the title-page contains a list of errata. The only copy I have seen contains what appears to be a cancelled title-page: "Customs of the churches ; | Or | A set of propositions relative to the name, matterials, constitutions, pow- | ers, officers, ordinances, rites, business, worship, discipline, govern- | ment, &c., of a church ; to which are added their proofs from | scripture ; and historical narratives of the manner in which some have | been reduced to practice." | . . . | . . . | . . . | [n. p. n. d.]. On the reverse is an "Advertisement" of 16 lines.

This attempt to formulate the ritual of the Baptist Church was written by Rev. Morgan Edwards, who had a few copies printed for private distribution among the Ministers and Elders of that sect, "with an earnest request that each of them will consider the plan ; mend it ; or propose a better." It does not seem to have met with a favorable reception, and the Philadelphia Association, in their Letter for 1774, express their disapproval.

By Dr. Rush? "The description of the disease, which would now be called diphtheria," says Dr. W. F. Atlee, "is admirable. The treatment advised is very remarkable, inasmuch as it denounces bleeding in all cases of the disease, and is the one generally adopted nowadays." It was published in Nichola's American Magazine for 1769, and the only known copy, now in the Library of the College of Physicians, Philadelphia, is from the same type, the paging having been altered and a title-page added.

A printed letter from a nephew of Benjamin Franklin, to the Mayor, Recorder, and Aldermen : "Sir, Be pleased to permit me to inform you, that I have been in this City, a few Months more than two Years, during which Time I have endeavoured to get constant Employment at my own Business, but being disappointed, my Wife (the Bearer hereof) has been frequently advised to apply to your Worship for a Recommendation to his Honour the Governor, to grant us a Licence to sell spirituous Liquors by small Measure, at a House we have now liv'd in almost a Quarter, where such Sale has been continued. We are not fond of the Prospect it affords, farther than as it may contribute to support a Number of young growing Children, whose Welfare we would earnestly and honestly endeavour to secure. If you, Sir, after Inquiry, should judge we are improper Persons to recommend, in this Case, I have only to desire that you will excuse the Application from Your respectful humble Servant, Benjamin Mecom, Printer."

Cruikshank, for R. Aitken, | Bookseller, opposite the London-Coffee- |
House, in Front-street. | M,DCC,LXXII. | Sm. 8vo. pp. 27, (1).

Attributed to Judge H. H. Brackenridge, and also to Brackenridge and Freneau jointly. In the edition of Freneau's Poems, printed on his own press and under his supervision at Monmouth in 1809, this poem is given a prominent place without any reference being made to Brackenridge's share in its composition. On the title-page of Brackenridge's Poem on Divine Revelation, that piece is said to be "By the same person who on a similar occasion . . . delivered a small poem on the rising glory of America." This may have been the ground on which the last-named poem was attributed to Brackenridge. But as it admits of the construction that he only read or recited the earlier poem, of which Freneau claims the sole authorship, I have placed it under the latter's name.

The waters of Abington, and Bath, near Bristol, were much resorted to till near the middle of the present century. The fame of the supposed "Philadelphia Mineral Water," on the disagreeable taste and fetid smell of which Dr. Rush has much to say, was short-lived. The true cause of these qualities being soon discovered to arise not from mineral sources, but from one which put an immediate stop to the use of the water, and made its advocates and their disciples a subject of ridicule.

Brackenridge, alludes to the former as also by his father. Judge B. also called himself Hugh Montgomery B. in the advertisement of his School at Frederick Town, Md., which appeared in the Pa. [DICKINSON.] Letters from a Farmer in Pennsylvania, To the Inhabitants of the British Colonies. Philadelphia : 1774. 3004

Title from Sabin's Dictionary and Haven's List. The former says there are copies in the libraries of Harvard College and Congress, but these proved to be copies of a London edition with the following imprint: Philadelphia printed, and London re- printed, MDCCLXXIV. From this I think it has been assumed that there was an edition printed during 1774 in Philadelphia, and as I have been unable to find a trace of it, I do not believe that there ever was such an edition.

London: Printed. | Philadelphia: Re-printed, | by Joseph Crukshank, in Market- | Street, between Second and Third Streets. [1774?] | 36mo. pp. 364. 3022

The first Roman Catholic prayer-book printed in English in America. Dr. J. Gilmary Shea, to whom I am indebted for an opportunity of examining a copy, writes, "My grandmother gave me her father's Garden of the Soul, telling me that it was printed a couple of years before her birth (i.e. 1776)." The imprint indicates that it could not have been printed before the middle of the year 1772, as Crukshank's office was not in Market street until about June of that year.

[CHANDLER. (Thomas Bradbury)] The Strictures on the Friendly Address examined, and a refutation of its principles attempted. Addressed to the People of America. Philadelphia: 1775. 8vo. pp. 14. Two editions. . 3181

Title from Haven's List, where the same tract is also attributed to Lieut. Henry Barry. Haven has probably followed a very slovenly piece of work in Sabin's Dictionary. Under T. B. Chandler, Sabin has given a title as above, but with the following imprints, &c. . "Printed in the Year 1775, 8vo, pp. 14. + [Another edition.] Philadelphia. 1775. 8vo.," and adds P, meaning that these pamphlets are in the Philadelphia Library. That Library possesses four or five copies of a tract (probably by Lieut. Henry Barry) with the following title: The | General, | attacked | By a Subaltern: | Or THE | STRICTURES | ON | THE FRIENDLY ADDRESS | EXAMINED, | AND | A REFUTATION OF ITS PRINCIPLES | ATTEMPTED. | ADDRESSED TO THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA. | . . . | Boston, Printed: | New-York, re-printed by James Rivington. [n. d.] | 8vo. pp. 11. From this it is apparent where Sabin's title came from. The Philadelphia Library also contains four or five copies of an edition of Lee's reply to Chandler, with the following title and imprint: Strictures | on a | Pamphlet, | entitled | a | "Friendly Address | to | All Reasonable Americans, | on the | Subject of our Political Confusions." | Addressed to the | People of America. | . . . | . . . | PRINTED IN THE YEAR 1775. | 8vo. Title, 1 leaf, pp. 15-25. Paging and signatures in continuation of Barry's tract, the title and first two pages forming the last four pages of sheet B. This shows the source of Sabin's first imprint. Whoever made up the title for him had a pamphlet containing two tracts on opposite sides of a question (each of which has a title-page), and took part of the title of the first tract and the imprint of the second to make up his description. This style of cataloguing recalls a criticism on Macaulay's way of handling the evidence against Sir Elijah Impey, which the critic said was very much the same as if we added to a verse in the New Testament which says, "And Judas went and hanged himself," Christ's command on another occasion, "Go thou and do likewise."

CHEW. (S.) The | Speech | of | Samuel Chew, Esq. | Chief Judge of the Counties of Newcastle, Kent and | Sussex, on Delaware. | On the | Lawfulness of Defence against an | armed Enemy. | Delivered from the Bench to the Grand | Jury of the County of Newcastle, | Nov. 21, 1741. | First Published at the request of said Grand Jury; and now re-pub- | lished by desire of several Gentlemen. | Philadelphia: | Printed and Sold by R. COOMBE. A | Sermon | Preached before the Congregations

Coombe, M.A. | Chaplain to the Most Noble the Marquis | of Rockingham. | Published by Request. | Philadelphia : | Printed by
John Dunlap, in Market-street. | M,DCC,LXXV. | 8vo. Title, 1
leaf; Dedication, 1 leaf; text, pp. 1-29. H. S. P. 3184

There was a second edition, which differs only from the first in the substitution on the title-page of "The Second Edition," for "Printed by Request." It was reprinted at Newport, Rhode Island. For a notice of the author, see Appendix to Inscriptions in St. Peter's Church-Yard, Philadelphia, 1879.

THE | CRISIS. | Number I. | [Philadelphia : B. Towne. 1775.]
8vo. pp. 8. + Number XIV. | Saturday, April 22, 1775. | [Ibid.]
pp. 113-119. + Number XV. L. C. P. 3185

This is a reprint of an English publication very strongly in favor of the Americans, of which Towne reprinted the fifteen numbers of eight pages each. I have seen only fourteen. The fifteenth was advertised in the Pa. Evening Post, Nov. 25, 1775. A second edition of the following title was advertised by Towne, Nov. 23, 1775.

CROWLEY. (A.) Some Expressions of Ann Crowley, daughter of Thomas and Mary Crowley, of London, during her last illness. With an introductory Testimony concerning her, from the family. Philadelphia? Joseph Crukshank? 1775. 3187

Advertised in the Pa. Packet, Feb. 6, 1775, as "just published by Joseph Crukshank, and may be had of Isaac Collins, in Burlington." I have seen a "Third Edition" of this tract, "Burlington: Printed by Isaac Collins. 1775." The first and second editions were published in London in 1774, and it is not unlikely that Crukshank's advertisement refers to Collins's edition.

Prof. Seidensticker refers to Miller's newspaper as authority for saying that an edition of this almanac was presented by Dunlap in German. The advertisement in the Pennsylvanischer Staatsbote of Oct. 27, 1775, frequently inserted before and after that date, is always the same, and is not, in my opinion, sufficient to warrant such an assertion.

Re-printed: Title as above with the addition of a one-line Latin quotation. Collation: The Printer, &c., pp. (2); Title, 1 leaf; Dedication, pp. (2); Introduction, 1 leaf; text, pp. 9-74; Rationalis, pp. 75-86; Cato, pp. 87-96. Congress on the Rights of Englishmen (Letter to the Inhabitants of Quebec), pp. (6); Title to Additions to Plain Truth, 1 leaf; Additions, pp. 97-136. The collation of the second edition is the same, except that the reverse of the Introduction is occupied by a "Memorandum" concerning a Third Edition. The title-page differs, in the substitution of "Honorable Connections," for "Reconciliation," in the seventeenth line; the addition of the words "The Second Edition," and the omission of the Latin quotation. The title to the Additions is as follows: Additions | to | Plain Truth; | addressed to the | Inhabitants | of | America, | Containing, further Remarks | On a Late Pamphlet, | entitled | Common Sense: | Wherein, | Are clearly and fully shewn, that American Independence, | is as illusory, ruinous, and impracticable, as a liberal | reconciliation with Great Britain, is safe, honorable, | and expedient. | Written by the Author of Plain Truth. | . . . | . . . | . . . | . . . | . . . | [Imprint as in first title.]

The authorship of this tract has been attributed to Alexander Hamilton (but not till about 1792, and then only by his political enemies); to the Rev. Charles Inglis, on a supposition which is effectually disposed of by Mr. Franklin Burdge (Magazine of American History, ii., 59-60); to Joseph Galloway on no evidence at all; contemporaneously to Richard Wells, of Philadelphia, who immediately denied the charge; and to George Chalmers. It is scarcely necessary to say that the tenor and style of the tract are too much at variance with Hamilton's opinions and writings to allow him to be suspected of being the author by any unprejudiced person. In regard to Joseph Galloway, if the dedication to his old enemy, Dickinson, is not sufficient, the laudatory references to the Proprietary Government of Pennsylvania are enough to preclude the slightest credence to the claim put forth for him. The writer's style, allusions to the eastern shore of Maryland (where Chalmers resided), admiration of a proprietary (the Maryland as well as Pennsylvania) form of government, and ardent Presbyterianism, all point to him as the author. His immediate appointment by the Government, on his arrival in England, to a lucrative office, and employment as a political writer, are more credibly explained by such a service as the production of "Plain Truth" than by any individual losses which he might have sustained through his loyalty. The second edition is announced as just published in the Pa. Gazette, May 8, 1776. Some copies of the Additions are partly printed on a coarse blue paper. In these there is generally pasted on the back of the title a slip of blue paper containing the following: "To Every Purchaser. The impossibility of obtaining White, constituted the law of necessity for part of these Additions to appear in Blue. The Philosopher reacheth beyond outward appearances.—The Patriot surmounteth every difficulty. And the Bookseller industriously attempteth business, agreeable to the prescriptions and decrees of the British and American Laws of Freedom concerning the Liberty of the Press. Third Street, April 24th, 1776."

THE | PENNSYLVANIA Gazette. | Saturday, January 17,
1778. | [Colophon.] York-Town: Printed by Hall and Sellers. | Sm.
Folio. H. 3767

The publication of the Gazette was, I believe, resumed at York, Pennsylvania, about December, 1777. It was probably published weekly, on Saturday, until June 20th, 1778. Until May it was a small folio of four pages in double columns. From May 2d it resumed its former size, and the title is as in No. 1693, supra. The papers issued on May 23, June 6 and 10, were only two pages each. There were "Postscripts" of one leaf quarto to the papers for May 2 and 9, and there was a regular issue on Wednesday, June 10th. None of these papers were numbered. The Gazette of Sept. 10, 1777, is No. 2533, and that of Jan. 5, 1779, No. 2534.

The publication of this paper, which was suspended Sept. 17, 1777, was resumed about December 23, 1778. Numbers 1808 and 1809 were published before 1779.

Numbers CXV. (Jan. 3, 1778) to CLV. (May 23, 1778), four pages each, except Numbers 117 and 125, which contain two pages, and No. 120, six pages, with "Supplements" of two pages to Numbers 131, 132, and 135; "Extra Supplements" of four pages to Numbers 131 and 139, and of two pages to No. 132, and a "Postscript" of two pages to No. 134. Published on Wednesdays and Saturdays. The paper was discontinued just before the evacuation of the city by the British. Humphreys was declared a traitor, and his property confiscated by the State authorities.

The old cut of the ship was retained, as indicated by the dotted lines. Published without numbers, weekly, on Wednesdays, to June 17, with additional numbers on Monday, March 9, Saturday, May 23, and Saturday, June 6; with a "Supplement" of two pages, dated Jan. 29; a "Postscript" of four pages, dated April 25; and a "Packet Extraordinary" of four pages, dated May 14. The publication was suspended from June 17 to July 4, when it was resumed at Philadelphia, and the paper was issued "every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday" during the rest of the year. There was an "Extra" of four pages issued on Dec. 21. The paper for July 6 consists of one leaf only. From July 4 the imprint is as given in No. 3927, infra, and from July 16 the title is as there given.

THE PENNSYLVANIA Packet. 4038

Jan. 1 to Dec. 30, 1780, 120 or 121 numbers, of four pages each, of which the paper of April 6th is called a "Packet Extraordinary," as is one (No. 691) of the two papers dated Dec. 19th (the other of the same date is No. 690). After the first of April the paper was issued only twice a week, but in none of the six copies which I have examined is there any paper between Sept. 12th and 19th, while the regular semi-weekly issue calls for a paper on Sept. 16th, it is for this reason that I say about 120 or 121 papers. With the paper for Dec. 2d (which has the day of the week Tuesday, instead of Saturday, as it ought to have been) the numbering of the paper was resumed, and the papers for December are Numbers 684 to 694, two of which, Numbers 690 and 691, were issued on Dec. 19th. Title and imprint as in No. 3928, supra, until April 8th, when the last line of the former was changed to "Published every Tuesday and Saturday." The imprint was changed, Oct. 17th, to "Philadelphia: Printed and Sold by John Dunlap and David C. Claypoole."

WUNDERGESCHICHTE | Wunder-Spiel, | Welches sich | In diesen letzten Zeiten und Tagen | In denen Abend-Ländischen Welt-Theilen als ein Vor- | spiel der neuen Welt hervor gethan. Bestehende | In einer ganz neuen und ungemeinen Sing- | Art auf Weise der Englischen und himm- | lischen Chören eingerichtet. | Da dann das Lied Moses und des Lamms, wie auch das hohe Lied Salomo- | nis samt noch mehrern Zeug- nüssen aus der Bibel und andern Heiligen | in liebliche Melodien gebracht.

Wobey nicht weniger der Zuruf der | Braut des Lamm's, sammt der Zubereitung auf den herrlichen | Hochzeit-Tag trefflich Präfigurirt wird. | Alles nach Englischen Chören Gesangs-Weise mit viel Mühe und großem Fleiß ausgefertigt von einem | Friedsamem, | Der sonst in dieser Welt weder Namen noch Titel suchet. | [Cut.] | Ephratae Sumptibus Societatis : | 1754. | Folio, Title, 1 page; Chor-Gesaenge, pp. 1-212; Register, 1 page. 4629

The only copy I have met with of this volume, once the property of Sister Barbara, of the Ephrata community, is one of the most remarkable specimens of Pennsylvania bookmaking. The text begins on the reverse of the title. The page, not quite 14 inches in length, contains usually six lines of type, besides the heading, every two lines being divided by spaces of three inches, which are filled with manuscript music for four voices. The end of each musical phrase is marked by more or less elaborate penwork in two or three colors, amounting occasionally to an illumination, generally in the shape of a floral design.

INDEX.

THE titles printed in these volumes are indexed under the names of the authors, when such names are given. Anonymous works are indexed under the first words of their titles. References are made to the numbers given to the titles in the regular order in which they appear, and not to the pages on which they are described. Almanacs, Lotteries, New-Year Verses, and Newspapers are grouped under those heads without cross-references. Numbers marked with an * will be found in the Corrigenda. In all cross-references the catchword referred to is printed in SMALL CAPS.
